

Kentucky Association For Gerontology

A Celebration of Aging Endless Possibilities

Sunday April 25th- Tuesday April 27th
Holiday Inn North
1950 Newtown Pike
Lexington, Ky

Featuring Keynote Presentation:

A New Culture of Aging: Reinventing Long Term Care

Nancy Fox, BAAS, LNFA

Based on a new view of aging Nancy Fox will illustrate how the culture change movement is transforming our long term care facilities from sterile institutions to warm, caring communities. Successes in this area have now challenged those involved in caring for seniors to bring those principles beyond the walls of institutions and into the larger community.

About the presenter: Nancy Fox, is the Chief Life Enhancement Officer for Pinon Management in Lakewood Colorado. In this role she oversees the organization's culture change efforts and develops and provides education and consulting in person-directed care, the Eden Alternative, leadership, conflict management and team building. She is author of The Journey of a Lifetime: Leadership Pathways to Culture Change in Long Term Care

Ethics Intensive: The Nexus of Elder Abuse and Ethics

Pamela Teaster, PhD.

Elder abuse will be discussed as it occurs on a national and state level. The ethical dilemmas often presented in these types of cases will be explored through case studies.

About the presenter: Dr. Pamela Teaster is the Chair of the Graduate Center for Gerontology at the University of Kentucky. Dr. Teaster is also chairs the National Committee for Prevention of Elder Abuse. She has recently established the Justice Center for Elders and Vulnerable Adults at the University of Kentucky. Dr. Teaster is a previous recipient of the prestigious Rosalie Wolf Award for research on elder abuse.

This conference offers you...

- New and creative ways to deliver services to those for whom you provide care
- Ways to enhance your own aging experience
- Federal and State updates on funding and initiatives
- Expert direction on how to apply ethics to situations involving elder abuse
- Networking opportunities and a chance to enjoy the artwork of older artists
